Adam Ames was drawn by Lou Fine. He is considered one of the greatest artists working during the the Golden Age of comic books. Fine joined the Eisner-Iger comic book shop in 1938, where he contributed to Wilton of the West, The Count of Monte Cristo, and most famously the Flame.He then finished his comic book career drawing for Quality Comics, where he illustrated the Black Condor, Stormy Foster, and Uncle Sam. In 1944 he left comic books to draw Sunday advertising strips, presumably for financial reasons. During this period he worked extensively with Don Komisarow. Their creations include 'Charlie McCarthy' and 'Mr. Coffee Nerves' for Chase and Sanborn Coffee, and 'Sam Spade' for Wildroot Cream Oil. Adam Ames was created late in Fine's career and was followed by his last strip, a complete change of genre with private eye Peter Scratch. Will Eisner, called Lou Fine one of the greatest draftsmen ever. Joe Simon, named him his: "favorite artist.... He was also Jack Kirby's favorite artist. I know that Jack was a fan of and greatly influenced by Fine's work". Lou Fine (1914-1971) is one of the most famous and sought-after artists of the Golden Age of Comics and beyond, named #10 in the "Top 100 Artists Of American Comic Books." ADAM AMES is the story of the title character, a widower, his two teens, and his housekeeper. The strip only lasted about three years, and while not considered a masterpiece of comic writing, Lou Fine's art makes it more than worthwhile - it is essential! We have a great selection of over 500 daily strips --- from 7/6/59 to 2/11/61 --- for those Lou Fine and comics strip fans!

For the few hundred television viewers in 1946, a special treat on the broadcast schedule was the variety show called Hour Glass. It was the first TV program to go beyond talking heads, cooking demonstrations, and sporting events, featuring instead dancers, comics, singers, and long commercials for its sponsor, Chase and Sanborn coffee. Within two years, another variety show, Texaco Star Theatre, became the first true television hit and would be credited with the sales of thousands of television sets. The variety show formula was a staple of television in its first 30 years, in part because it lent itself to a medium where everything had to be live and preferably inside a studio. Most of the early television stars—including Jackie Gleason, Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Ed Sullivan, Red Skelton, Dinah Shore, and Arthur Godfrey—rose to prominence through weekly variety shows. In the 1960s, major stars such as Jerry Lewis, Dean Martin, Judy Garland and Danny Kaye were hosting variety shows. By the 1970s, the format was giving way to sitcoms and dramas, but pop music stars Sonny and Cher, Tony Orlando and Dawn, and Donny and Marie Osmond hosted some of the last of the species. This book details 57 variety shows from the 1940s through the 1990s. A history of each show is first provided, followed by a brief look at each episode. Air date, guest stars, sketches performed, and a listing of songs featured are included.

Rediscover the romantic tale of two dogs from the classic 1955 animated film in this touching journey. It's Christmas day--Jim Dear gives his wife Darling an adorable cocker spaniel puppy named Lady. Growing up in their home, Lady becomes accustomed to a wonderful life. But not all dogs live a luxurious life or come from a happy family. Tramp is a mutt, owned by no one, who knows the streets and lives day by day for survival. When Lady's owners welcome a new baby into their family, she starts to feel unwanted. And when Tramp saves her from a vicious attack, she sees the prospect of a life of freedom and adventure ahead of her . . . with Tramp. Experiencing life on the streets, evading the local dog catcher, and trying to remain loyal to her human family, Lady struggles like she never has before. With so much newness, she must find
