Access Point delivers speed and security rivaling that of a typical wired connection. Wireless-N is not only the fastest wireless protocol, it's also backwards compatible for users running 802.11b and 802.11g devices. The access point integrates MIMO (multiple-in, multiple-out) technology to extend your connection's range and consistency.

What worked for me was plugging the wap4410n that will act as a repeater into a router, changing the settings to allow wireless (http) browser access and then completing the rest of the setup wirelessly. Since a wap4410n has both a wired and wireless mac address, make sure you use the correct one when configuring the ap and repeater.
