In Liberia, 1,641,922 people voted in the first-round election but only 1,218,124 (60.6%) returned for the run-off. A lesson to be learnt is that elections marred with corruption allegations, and halted by courts, affect the morale of voters and see less voters coming to polls in re-run and/or run-off elections.

Post-election era in Africa has been characterized by violent clashes between opposition protestors and security forces loyal to ruling political hegemonies. These clashes are usually instigated by accusations of electoral manipulation and fraud (rigging elections). In the last 10 years, these are few facts of electoral crises across Africa:
