A lake formed at Badwater within Death Valley National Park during the unusually wet winter and spring of 2005. Ephemerality (from the Greek word ephēmeros, IPA: [eˈfi.me.ros/], meaning 'lasting only one day'[1]) is the concept of things being transitory, existing only briefly. Typically the term ephemeral is used to describe objects found in nature, although it can describe a wide range of things, including human artifacts intentionally made to last for only a temporary period, in order ...
