Every winter many motorists get caught out by slippery conditions, with black ice causing havoc on untreated surfaces. But what if your car could tell you where these treacherous patches of road are?

"Are You A Good Egg?" explains that different feelings are normal, and even though moods are ever-changing, people are good because they have a good heart. And that doesn't change. Featuring whimsical and original illustrations with fun rhyming verse, "Are You A Good Egg?" inspires valuable self-esteem conversations.

An up-and-down journey. Philip Blair - accompanied by a most loyal partner, and motivated by the sense that it is the road he is appointed to take - forged a career living and working in three distinct professions in six countries of the Middle East. Along the way there are some unexpected blips as well as a few touching - occasionally amusing - moments. Through this engaging odyssey, the reader learns both about the rich - though often disturbed - history of a region that has yet to find itself, and of occasional personal experiences of ugly or unsavoury situations. Photographs, enhanced by evocative sketches by Joanna Blair, help the reader stay on board through a slightly stormy voyage.

Endurance runners and coaches have tended to neglect weight training and conditioning techniques, often in the belief that they don't benefit performance, add unwanted muscle bulk, or cause excessive soreness. But as standards at elite level have improved, so coaches and runners have become increasingly keen on learning about the latest new training techniques or ways to stay injury free. No longer does the running community view strength and conditioning with scepticism, or as something that can only benefit elite runners. In Strength and Conditioning for Endurance Running, author Richard Blagrove shows how a strength and conditioning programme can directly improve running performance and reduce the risk of injury, as well as allowing an athlete to tolerate high volumes of running in the future. Fully illustrated with 312 colour images and diagrams.

This book is about the desperate economic situation which the Movement for Multiparty Democracy inherited and the unenviable task of turning it into a viable economy and the difficult decisions that President Frederick Chiluba had to take.
