The biography is ideal for someone like myself, with no great knowledge of what Muhammad was all about and the times in which he lived, compared with say one's knowledge of Jesus. It paints vividly the society of Arabia into which the individual was born in 570 AD and his upbringing with all its family hardships and personal tragedy.

The Prophet Muhammad- A Biography- Rogerson, Barnaby---
"F.W. Burleigh must be credited not only for having researched Muhammad's life and created a person with flesh and bones (and an addled skull) from a vast storehouse of documented information, but for having the courage to tell it "like it was" about history's most notorious "prophet." His book is well worth the time to read."
