A comprehensive reference on the properties, selection, processing, and applications of the most widely used nonmetallic engineering materials. Section 1, General Information and Data, contains information applicable both to polymers and to ceramics and glasses. It includes an illustrated glossary, a collection of engineering tables and data, and a guide to materials selection. Sections 2 through 7 focus on polymeric materials--plastics, elastomers, polymer-matrix composites, adhesives, and sealants--with the information largely updated and expanded from the first three volumes of the Engineered Materials Handbook. Ceramics and glasses are covered in Sections 8 through 12, also with updated and expanded information. Annotation copyright by Book News, Inc., Portland, OR Composites is designed to be of value to working engineers. Its orientation is practical rather than theoretical, although researchers and students will also find it to be a substantial source of worthwhile information. The 998 pages in this reference book are packed with real-life, how-to-do-it information aimed at solving problems. There are 13 major sections containing 161 separate articles. The information is clear and concise, yet complete. Ranging across a broad area of useful information about structural composites for engineering applications, Composites covers the subject completely and in depth. First constituent materials - the fibres and matrix materials of which composites are made - are described in detail. The forms in which they are available for use are reviewed in depth. Sections on analysis and design of both the basic composites and structures made from composites provide guidance for design and materials engineers. Articles on manufacturing processes cover them in a practical and helpful way. Whole sections on quality control, testing and failure analysis round out the picture. Applications for and experience with composites are reported in a section that ranges across aircraft, automotive, marine, and recreational applications. A final section on materials for special applications describes metal-matrix, ceramic, and carbon-carbon composites.
