Sono passati quasi 20 anni da Adaptation, e ad oggi Sto pensando di finirla qui rappresenta la terza prova alla regia di Charlie Kaufman, che dopo Anomalisa torna ad un grande dramma esistenziale molto più vicino a Synecdoche, New York. Questa volta fornisce però soluzioni completamente diverse al problema dell'adattamento, che seppur lontane dal metacinema de Il ladro di orchidee, sono ...

First published in 1974, and out of print for almost twenty years, Tamarisk Row is Gerald Murnane's first novel, and in many respects his masterpiece, an unsparing evocation of a Catholic childhood in a Victorian country town in the late 1940s.

La fisica spiega il funzionamento della Natura a ogni livello, dall'immensità dell'Universo alle particelle subatomiche, e le sue leggi si possono tradurre anche in formule di comportamento nelle relazioni interpersonali. L'autore conduce in un viaggio dell'intelletto fra concetti che raramente sono stati accostati: la metrica dei comportamenti umani, il principio di azione e reazione nelle relazioni interpersonali, la termodinamica degli esseri umani, le leggi della dinamica e le interazioni tra le persone. Il libro si rivolge a chiunque gestisca rapporti umani, ovvero tutti, negli ambiti familiari, lavorativi e sociali; e racconta come, a fronte del nostro sforzo di coltivare una dimensione "tecnica" e psicologica nei rapporti umani, la nostra natura o meglio la Natura, di cui facciamo parte ci mostra qualche scorciatoia per capire meglio noi stessi e gli altri.

At long last, the All-Japan Amateur Shooto Championship is finally reaching its climax. While Meguru and Maki narrowly clinch out a spot in the finals, Takashi blows through the competition with yet another near-instant K.O., dealing a blow to Meguru's confidence in the process. And in a desperate effort to cheer him up, Maki pulls a stunt that surprises both of them! With a fistbump and a promise to bring the win home, the two return to the ring ready to take on the world. And now, let the finals begin!

This book presents a semiotic study of the re-elaboration of Christian narratives and values in a corpus of Italian novels published after the Second Vatican Council (1960s). It tackles the complex set of ideas expressed by Italian writers about the biblical narration of human origins and traditional religious language and ritual, the perceived clash between the immanent and transcendent nature and role of the Church, and the problematic notion of sanctity emerging from contemporary narrative.

What is the English language like, why is it like that and what do we need to know in order to study it? This wide ranging introductory textbook not only presents the English language from multiple perspectives, but provides the reader with the necessary grounding in linguistics to investigate it for themselves.

The European Union and the single currency have given Europe more stability than it has known in the past thousand years, yet Europe seems to be in perpetual crisis about its global role. The many European empires are now reduced to a multiplicity of ethnicities, traditions, and civilizations. Europe will never be One, but to survive as a union it will have to become a federation of "islands" both distinct and connected. Though drawing on philosophers of Europe's past, Cacciari calls not to resist Europe's sunset but to embrace it. Europe will have to open up to the possibility that in few generations new exiles and an unpredictable cultural hybridism will again change all we know about the European legacy. Though scarcely alive in today's politics, the political unity of Europe is still a necessity, however impossible it seems to achieve.

This accessible introductory textbook looks at the modern relationship between politicians, the press and the public through the language they employ, with extensive coverage of key topics including: 'spin', 'spin control' and 'image' politics models of persuasion: authority, contrast, association pseudo-logical and 'post-truth' arguments political interviewing: difficult questions, difficult answers metaphors and metonymy rhetorical figures humour, irony and satire Extracts from speeches, soundbites, newspapers and blogs, interviews, press conferences, election slogans, social media and satires are used to provide the reader with the tools to discover the beliefs, character and hidden strategies of the would-be persuader, as well as the counter-strategies of their targets. This book demonstrates how the study of language use can help us appreciate, exploit and protect ourselves from the art of persuasion. With a wide variety of practical examples on both recent issues and historically significant ones, every topic is complemented with guiding tasks, queries and exercises with keys and commentaries at the end of each unit. This is the ideal textbook for all introductory courses on language and politics, media language, rhetoric and persuasion, discourse studies and related areas.

This book is a collection of essays on the reception of Leibniz's thinking in the sciences and in the philosophy of science in the 19th and 20th centuries. Authors studied include C.F. Gauss, Georg Cantor, Kurd Lasswitz, Bertrand Russell, Ernst Cassirer, Louis Couturat, Hans Reichenbach, Hermann Weyl, Kurt Gödel and Gregory Chaitin. In addition, we consider concepts and problems central to Leibniz's thought and that of the later authors: the continuum, space, identity, number, the infinite and the infinitely small, the projects of a universal language, a calculus of logic, a mathesis universalis etc. The book brings together two fields of research in the history of philosophy and of science (research on Leibniz, and the research concerned with some major developments in the 19th and 20th centuries); it describes how Leibniz's thought appears in the works of these authors, in order to better understand Leibniz's influence on contemporary science and philosophy; but it also assesses that reception critically, confronting it in particular with the current state of Leibniz research and with the various editions of his work.
