Poets through the ages offer interpretations of love's changing moods and forms

The Sufi mystic and poet Jalaluddin Rumi is most beloved for his poems expressing the ecstasies and mysteries of love in all its forms—erotic, platonic, divine—and Coleman Barks presents the best of them in this delightful and inspiring collection. Rendered with freshness, intensity, and beauty as Barks alone can do, these startling and rich poems range from the "wholeness" one experiences with a true lover, to the grief of a lover's loss, and all the states in between: from the madness of sudden love to the shifting of a romance to deep friendship to the immersion in divine love. Rumi, the ultimate poet of love, explores all "the magnificent regions of the heart," and he opens you to the lover within. Coleman Barks has made this medieval, Persian-born (present-day Afghanistan) poetic and spiritual genius the most popular poet in America today. This seductive volume reveals Rumi's charms and depths more than any other.

Theodore Prime composed Burning Desire while a senior at Notre Dame High School in Lawrenceville, New Jersey. A writer of poetry since he was 12 years old, Theo often reflected upon the things a man in love thinks about but never says to the object of his affections. This collection of poems is his first attempt to capture the essence of these feelingsthe yearning, the longing, the hurt, the anguish, and even the despair that torments a man who plays the game of love . . . and often loses. And while men certainly will identify with the feelings found here, it is the women among his readers whom Theo really is addressing. For it is they who finally will secure a window into a mans heart and see, perhaps for the first time, how vulnerable men really are.

More of a story than a collection of poetry, Love by Night will whisk you away from your world and into the dreamy romantic night. Love by Night begins with anxious hesitation and nervous attraction, grows into tender affection, blossoms into passionate love, delves deep into whimsical dreams, and finally builds an image of an idyllic future together, as the reader develops along with the two characters of this poetic story. Written as a conversation between two points of view in constant change and flux with each other, this book invites the reader into the conversation about the love that connects one person to another, but also all of us to each other. Through this written testament to the emotional journeys books can take us on, S. K. Williams breaks down stereotypes, sexism, relationship roles, and brings awareness to mental health, grief, anxiety, depression, how to move forward, how to love in a healthy way, and, most of all, how to love yourself when it feels impossible.

A pocket size book of love poems.

Black Love is a love story represented through poetry. The various poems represent different peaks experienced in love. There is a revelation taking place and awareness is key. There are ups and downs that anyone can be connected with and this collection of poems will urge the reader to share. This book can take you on a mental road trip including desire and sensuality so pure, you can feel it. The description of emotion and touch are amazing, perhaps three times amazing. Each poem stemmed from love, but there are other feelings like pain and deception. The poem,The Dance, represents all of those emotions. There is also disappointment, as well as inspiration. Pain, expresses a deep level of pain shown through a life altering experience coupled with confusion and depression; there is also a distant, but recognizable triumph present. Overall, this love story is typically drama filled because life can be wonderful, as well as tragic. It also offers encouragement to those ready to receive the distinct message found inside. Simply put, it is a great read to enjoy alone or easily with others. Black Love leaves much to be discussed and gained.

Written by the world's leading expert on Gibran, this profound little book will be an essential addition to any reader's Gibran collection, and a perfect Christmas and Valentine's Day alternative for those tired with collections of clichéd romantic verse. Regarding it as the raison d'être of the universe, Kahlil Gibran was never more insightful than when he wrote about love. Now for the first time, and illustrated with the poet's own paintings, his reflections on love and friendship have been gathered together in one volume, capturing the essence of love in all its forms and moods.

For centuries women have written about love with passion, humour, frustration and despair; but never before have their voices come together as in this exhilarating and timeless compendium. Here are love poems in all their true, subversive drama, delicately arranged according to a balance of moods and modes: of argument and lyric, joke and passionate utterance, rejection, rage and ecstasy. Poets, well-known and obscure, ancient and modern - from Sappho to Akhmatova,Patti Smith to Selima Hill, Sylvia Plath to Alice Walker - all challenge the traditional perception of women as muse and object of desire, and magnificently transcend it.

Dreams of Love was born of the author's desire to share her encounter with a real Grand Love. Melodic and mystical, these tales of passion and romance amuse, and reveal the ecstasies and agonies of love and passion, and the courage and risk necessary to follow our dreams. Thirteen short stories and nineteen poems weave together, following a thread. They read like a novel. Provocative and bold, perhaps it is even shocking! "Dreams of Love" will pierce through to stir up deep rooted emotions, and will leave us wondering and reflecting long after we close the book.
