~~What is the Faith of Jesus Christ?—End time~~

Seven times in St. Paul's epistles he refers to "the faith of Christ" and each time his purpose is to emphasize our Lord's worthiness of our complete confidence. That he does not refer to our faith in Christ is evident on the surface in each case. In the passage above he declares that the righteousness of God, which is "by the faith of Christ," is conferred "upon all them that believe" (Here's your faith in Him).

Fundamentals. According to James E. Faust, the Faith of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints is based on four fundaments:
. 1. Jesus, the Son of the Father, is the Christ and the Savior and Redeemer of the world;
. 2. Joseph Smith was the instrument through which the gospel was restored in its fulness and completeness in our time;
. 3. The Book of Mormon is the word of God and, as ...

Or pisteos Ieesou Christou as "faith of Jesus Christ" (Rom.3:22). The grammatical issue is whether it is the subjective genitive – Jesus' own faith – or the objective genitive – faith in Christ. All modern versions sadly translate pistis christou as faith in Christ. As a consequence, virtually a whole generation has missed what I believe is a most fundamental issue when it comes to justification by faith alone.

~~The Faith of Christ—RT Kendall Ministries~~

It is by the faith of Jesus Christ that he became the propitiation for our sins, Romans 3:25. It is by the faith of Jesus Christ that the righteousness of God is applied to us. Romans 3:22 and Philippians 3:9. It is by the faith of Jesus Christ whereby we are justified from our sins Galatians 2:16.

Many apparently entertain the illusion that redemptive faith is merely a willing dispositionto trust in Christ as one’s Savior, independent of any further acts of obedience. Such a notion is quite alien to the truth. Let’s explore the true, New Testament meaning of faith. First, faith involves a conviction grounded in evidence.

~~What Is Faith in Christ? | Christian Courier~~

The modern versions change the phrase “faith of Christ” to “faith in Christ” throughout, which overwhelms the passage with redundancy. Paul never intended the emphasis to be upon what man has achieved, but instead what the Savior has accomplished on his behalf. The apostle here is clearly contrasting these two phrases.

~~'Faith of Christ' and 'Faith in Christ' | Berean Bible Society~~

Michael Bird writes: "Faith in Christ means entrusting ourselves to the event of the gospel, which includes the theocentric act of deliverance wrought by God in Jesus which includes his coming, faithfulness, death, and resurrection. Thus, I would say that Jesus' faithfulness is implied not in the noun pistis but in christos."

~~"Faith IN Christ" or "Faithfulness OF Christ"~~

Faith of Christ comes to us through revelation from God (Matthew 16:17), and that means that there is no such aberration as faith 'apart' from the action of the Spirit's persuasion. In recent years, many modern theologians have discussed and debated the meaning of [ pistis christou ]. The Greek word [ pistis] means the act of being persuaded.

~~By the Faith of Christ, or our Faith in Christ?~~

In the Greek language, however, the construction could be translated either as a subjective genitive (Christ's faith) or as an objective genitive (our faith in Christ). Interestingly, the King James translates them as referring to Christ’s own faith. Over the decades the debate grew intense and scholars from around the world joined in.

The Christ of faith rose from the dead and is mystically present with Christians who remember him through ritual action and maintain his central place through doctrine.

~~The Historical Jesus vs The Christ of Faith~~

The faith of Christ, then, can also refer to the very power by which He created and maintains the world. Thus, His faith provides the environment in which individuals can gain the righteousness they need to dwell in the presence of God. The value of this statement is that it changes the parameters which have stymied the debate.
