Synopsis: The Fire is actually a sequel to Katherine Neville's The Eight published some twenty years ago and reviewed by me last year. The Fire, like The Eight, follows two timelines, one past (in this case 1822) and one present (2003). Alexandra Solarin (Xie) was twelve years old in the autumn of 1993. She was being accompanied by her father ...

The Fire (The Eight, #2) by Katherine Neville

The Fire is the sequel to one of my favorite novels of all time, Katherine Neville's The Eight. In The Eight, Katherine Neville introduced us to the Montglane Service, a chess set which once belonged to Charlemagne and which holds a deadly secret, and to the dangerous Game with real people as pawns and pieces, played to obtain the chess set and solve its mysteries. The Fire takes place ...

Welcome to the Katherine Neville website! The theme of my site reflects the theme of all my books: The Quest. Whenever we set off on a new adventure into the unknown, seeking something we are curious about, we may discover a surprising new world of things that we weren't expecting. Whether our quest is an adventure of the mind or spirit, or a voyage by sea, air, or land - it's often the ...

The Eight was a fantastic read and it must have been tough to create the logical completion of the story but Katherine Neville did it skillfully. If you intend to read this you must read The Eight first as much of the material in The Fire is best understood after reading The Eight. I thought Susan Denaker did a good job of reading the book, maybe some of her accents weren't perfect but you can ...
