The Daytona was named because of Triumph's success at the Daytona races in 1966, winning again in 1967. This model took over the role of a sports machine from the capable T100SS. Production started at the beginning of October 1966 with the first machines being shipped to the US on the 14th October 1966. The T100R designation was used for models exported to the US in US trim whereas the T100T designation was used for models sold in the UK and the rest of the world in UK trim.
